PRESENT STATE OF THE MONUMENT OF THE REV. SEBASTIAN RALE S. J.

Erected A.D. 1833, thrown down two years after, restored by the Citizens; again thrown down A.D. 1851.

PREFACE.

THE Tribes of the Abnakis, or, more properly, Wanbanakki (people of the Aurora borealis, from Wanbànbàn), existing in the State of Maine, transmit the truths of the Catholic religion from parents to children, only by oral tradition. Rev. Edmund Demillier left a handwriting, containing a small prayer-book, which was a correction of the prayer-book printed by Rev. Mr. Romagnè, with other additions. I have made use of them both, and I have spared no labor to correct them. But I found that this compilation was not sufficient to leave amongst the Indians a standing form of prayers and instructions in their own native language. They needed a book to which they could have reference at this time, in which the spirit of infidelity, so widely prevailing among the white men, is endeavoring to find an access even to the red race. Many attempts made in old times to pervert them, have been renewed in these last years, even in this very year, not only by white people, but also by some Protestant Ministers—apostates from the Catholic religion, belonging to the tribes of the Iroquois. However, they had no success, having not been able to make a single convert.

The arrangement of this book is quite different from that made by Rev. E. Demillier; the prayers have been distributed under certain fixed heads, and new additions have been inserted, in order to render this volume more proportionate to the object.

But, taking under consideration the want of proper words and phraseology to express the revealed mysteries of the holy religion; the condition of the language—destitute of grammar and dictionary—and the want of the substantive verb to be, by which (as Rev. John Eliot long ago observed in his grammar of the Massachusetts Indians), many words under a composition become substantive verbs; it is not to be expected that this book should be exempt from mistakes and inaccuracies.

There exists at Harvard College a manuscript dictionary of the Abnakis (published in the first volume of the new series of the Memoirs of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences), made by our Father Sebastian Rale. This dictionary is not complete, because, before being finished, it was taken away from the author, together with his chests and papers, by a party of English, from New England, who in 1722, under Col. Westbrook, pillaged the church and the village of the Abnakis, at Norridgewock, on the shores of the Kennebec. This manuscript has been always regarded as precious remains of Philology by all men of Science. The amateur of letters and the antiquarian will lament for ever the cruel death of Father Rale, who, having spent about thirty-five years among the Abnakis, was the only man capable to give a perfect dictionary and grammar.

But unfortunately, in 1724, the Indians and Missionary were taken by surprise, by a number of English and Mohawks. Father Rale fell a martyr at the foot of the cross erected in the mission, where his body was found, hacked and mangled in a savage manner, and where it remains buried by his beloved Abnakis.* So the dictionary of Father Rale will remain incomplete for ever. Being antiquated, it cannot now answer for the language used at present by the Indians.

The rules of pronunciation, and the English translation of the catechisms, are intended for the convenience of missionaries. Therefore, I have preferred to overlook the elegance of the English version, in order to give faithfully, as far as possible, the literal meaning of the Indian words.

Should this small work prove of any use to literature, as a contingent to greater works on the languages of the Red Race of this Continent, I shall consider myself fully rewarded.

June, 1856.

REV. SEBASTIAN RAIF S. J.

RULES

FOR READING THE LANGUAGE OF THE ABNAKI INDIANS.

The language of the Abnakis has a similarity to the Hebrew, in the construction and formation of words, in the use of prefixes and affixes, &c. The sound of the Indian words could, with great propriety, be expressed by the Hebrew alphabet, as, v. g; the aspiration at the end of many words could be designated by the א; the bh by the ב; the gh by the ג; the kh, or hh, or hk, by the כ and ק, &c. But as it would render the Abnakis language unintelligible to persons not acquainted with the Hebrew alphabet, so this plan is not advisable.

I have made use of the sound of the Latin alphabet, rather than of any modern language, because it obviates many difficulties in the pronunciation, which could not be prevented by the adoption of any modern language.

1. Pronounce all the letters.

2. A double consonant is to be pronounced with double force of a single one, v. g., Pesecò (one); pronounce the s as in the word miser. Messì (all) pronounce the s as the Latin word mèssis.

3. B and p, d and t, k, tt, and kt have little or no difference amongst the Indians, and often the one is pronounced for the other, not only by different tribes, but sometimes even by the same tribe, v.g.: the Penobscot Indians say Pampaktàmarwèwinè (pray for us); the Passamaquoddy say Pambattàmarwewinè.

4. D before g is scarcely heard.

5. Hk, hh, kh, kk, have a very peculiar strong aspiration, which cannot be expressed, because they have no corresponding sound neither in English, nor in any other language that I know; hence it has to be learned only by hearing.

6. Tch has two sounds—one as the English ch, v. g.: nitchi-wetchi (for which, or because), pron. as in the word church. The other has no corresponding sound in English, v. g.: Tchetchâque (soul). The nearest pronunciation is that of the word church, but with some more power.

7. The w must be adopted and pronounced as in English. W followed by a, gives to this letter a very broad sound, v. g.: wattawèssu (star), pron. Wáa-tta-wés-su. Wha is pronounced as in English, except that the a has the sound as in the word wax, and something broader.

8. The final e, when not accentuated, is not altogether mute; but it has a sound to be learned only by the voice, v. g.: Kindgemussisque (queen).

9. Oo has the sound very like to the English, v. g. : Ahiàmihèwigàmikoòk (church, verbatim wigwam of prayer), pron. as in the word cook. The Indians do not need this diphthong; but, as it has been adopted in America at the end of many Indian words, so I have followed this orthography.

10. Very often the Indians pronounce the nasal diphthong ua, very like the French, in louange (praise), v. g.: Niweskuanganohàn (spirituality). When it is to be pronounced so, I have always spelled it as follows, uha; hence Niwes- kuhaganohàn. The nasal diphthong oa has no corresponding sound in English ; it is very near to the French pronunciation of the word Rohàn (Card. De Rohàn).

11. The apostrophe (') between two letters, the first of which is a consonant, is a sign of an e mute, which some tribes pronounce ; some do not. When it is found after n or k, at the beginning of a word, it is a sign that these two consonants are prefixes of a personal pronoun, n of the first, k of the second person of the singular number, v. g. : N'ulamsetamèn (I believe), from Nia (I), and Ulamsetamen (to believe) ; K'ulamsetamen (thou believest), from Kia (thou) ; N'ketchi-Niweskum (O, my great spirit).

12. R and f are not found in this language.

GLORIA.

Gloria in excelsis Deo, et in terrâ pax hominibus bonæ voluntatis. Laudamus te, benedicimus te, adoramus te, glorifi-camus te. Gratias agimus tibi propter magnam gloriam tuam, Domine Deus, Rex cœlestis, Deus Pater omnipotens. Domine Fili unigenite Jesu Christe. Domine Deus, Agnus Dei, Filius Patris, qui tollis peccata mundi, miserere nobis. Qui tollis peccata mundi, suscipe deprecationem nostram. Qui sedes ad dexteram Patris, miserere nobis. Quoniam Tu solus sanctus, Tu solus Dominus, Tu solus altissimus, Jesu Christe, cum Sancto Spiritu, in gloriâ Dei Patris. Amen.

CREDO.

Credo in unum Deum, Patrem omnipotentem, factorem cœli et terræ, visibilium omnium et invisibilium.

Et in unum Dominum Jesum Christum, Filium Dei unigenitum, et ex Patre natum ante omnia sæcula; Deum de Deo, lumen de lumine, Deum verum de Deo vero ; genitum non factum, consubstantialem Patri, per quem omnia facta sunt. Qui, propter nos homines, et propter nostram salutem, descendit de cœlis ; et incarnatus est de Spiritu Sancto ex Mariâ Virgine ; ET HOMO FACTUS EST. Crucifixus etiam pro nobis, sub Pontio Pilato passus, et sepultus est. Et resurrexit tertiâ die, secundum scripturas ; et ascendit in cœlum ; sedet ad dexteram Patris ; et iterum venturus est cum gloriâ, judicare vivos et mortuos ; cujus regni non erit finis.

Et in Spiritum Sanctum, Dominum et vivificantem, qui ex Patre Filioque procedit ; qui cum Patre et Filio simul adoratur, et conglorificatur ; qui locutus est per Prophetas. Et unam sanctam Catholicam et Apostolicam Ecclesiam. Confiteor unum Baptisma in remissionem peceatorum. Et expecto resurrectionem mortuorum, et vitam venturi sæculi.

Amen.

PRAYERS IN MICMAC LANGUAGE.

Morning Prayers.

The letter g before e, i, has a soft sound, and it must be pronounced as we do in the Latin words magi, genus.

The Micmac Indians pronounce the letter k in two manners—the one has been explained at the beginning of this book; the other has a peculiar kind of sound, broken as it were in the throat, and of which I cannot give an idea on paper. When the k is to be pronounced in this manner, I mark it thus (k.) Ch pron. as in the French, so cha, che, chi, cho, chu, pron. as the French do in the words chandelle, Michel, chose, &c. If ch is suspended without a vowel, it must be pronounced in the same manner.

Ph has the sound of a p bent to an aspiration, making the noise of an f and h together.

We insert here the Lord's Prayer and the Angelical Salutation, in pure Passamaquoddy language, as we find them in an old manuscript belonging (as we think) to Rev. Sebastian Rasles, S. J. Those Passamaquoddy prayers, given by us in this work, belong to the Kannibas Indians—a tribe once living on the shores of the Kennebec, and at present in part extinct, and partly dispersed amongst the other tribes of the Abnakis. Although the Passamaquoddy tribe at present recite these prayers in Kannibas language, yet a great many of them say the same in pure Passamaquoddy language.

Baptism under condition in Penobscot.

Kia awansis anda suguenepansiwàne

nia kesuguenepanel, &c. For the Pas-samaquoddy Indians change anda in skat.

Version of these forms of Baptism.

Thou child, thee I baptize (wash with water) in the name of Him who has a Son, and of Him who has a Father, and of the Good Spirit. The Micmac say: "In the name of the Spirit that has a Son, and of the Spirit that has a Father, and of the Good Spirit."

The Montagnais add one to the third Person, saying: "And of one Good Spirit."

N O T E.

These forms of baptism might, at first sight, appear strange, and not without reason, as they have puzzled, and do yet puzzle a great many who entertain doubts about the validity of the baptism conferred in this manner. This question is continually proposed to us: "Have the Indians, in their language, words corresponding to the following: Father, Son, and Holy Ghost?" Yes, they have them; but to use them under that grammatical form in which they are construed by the English, they would give a formula of baptism, not in Indian, but in English, with Indian words. The Indian form of baptism must be according to the genius of the Indian, and not of the European dialects. It is not our intention to make here a dissertation on languages, but we desire only to lay a few remarks, in order to vindicate a form of baptism, such as we find it preserved amongst the Indians—made by their first missionaries, sanctioned by their successors, and which we do not feel prepared to alter. It has been already observed by the learned Mr. Du Ponceau, that the striking facts exhibited by the unwritten dialects of the natives of this country, call for important modifications on the system of a general grammar.

The version of the Indian forms of baptism, although it is the best which we could give in English, does not exactly represent the force and full meaning of the Indian. It is to be observed, that the natives of America do not confine themselves to a special word, in order to express an object—for instance, the Father. If a circumstance is connected with the object manifested, they generally use other words, which are construed in a grammatical form by far different from the other languages. The Indian tongue possesses a prerogative, unknown to the old world, of increasing the number of words to any extent, by a regular process of an agglutination of different words, or parts of them. In this manner, with a single word they designate the person acting, and that acted upon, the manner of acting, time, place, &c.

The language of the natives of this continent does not possess, or rather does not need the verbs to have and to be, either as auxiliaries, or in the abstract substantive sense, which they exhibit to an European mind. The names are neither inflected like the Latin and Greek, nor declined by articles, like the European languages, but they have tenses. They have no genders, every thing being classed in animate and inanimate. Their fundamental idea is that of existence, sum, es, est; and this abstract sentiment receives body and forms by the combination with other ideas expressing action, passion, time, reflection, reverence, &c.

The Indians delight of speaking in concrete and not in generic terms. When they say, for instance, Father, they add the personal possessive pronoun, saying, my Father, your Father, &c.; and they are so particular in it, that even when the name of the possessor is mentioned, they still use the personal pronoun, so, instead of John's father, John's book, they say John's his father, John's his book. Rev. Mr. Heckwelder relates that he was pointing to a tree, and asked the Indians how they called it, and they would answer an oak, an ash, a maple, as the case might be; and afterwards he found in his dictionary more than a dozen of words for the same word tree; it was after a long time that he found out that the Indians were always giving the specific and not the generic denomination.*

The word father expresses a person that either has or had children, and by itself does not tell how many children he has or had, nor when he had them. So with the word Son. But the Indian word Wenemanit expresses the person actu generating the son, one in number, and actu existing. The word Wenemiktankusit expresses a person actu generated from the existing father. Niweskwit means Spirit in substance, the same of the two other persons, but distinct from them by the addition of uli (bonitas), to which prefixing the particle wetchi, they designate that this uli-niweskwit is not by himself, but comes from the other two persons. So with three words, Venèmanit, Wemiktankùsit, and Wetchiuliniwèskwit, the Indians can express three particular persons, substantially one spirit, but really distinct from each other, and the manner in which they proceed. What language can exhibit all this with three words?

* John Pickering's notes on the Abnaki dictionary of Fr. Sebastian Rale, S. J.

Mr. Du Ponceau admired very much this prerogative in the Delaware language. He produced an example to show how these Indians, with two words, could express a sentence, for which the French or English were obliged to employ five, and yet the French and English grammatical forms could not exhibit that exactness and number of ideas conveyed by the Indian grammatical form with only two words. He then asks this question: "To which of all these grammatical forms is the epithet 'barbarous' to be applied?"*

MONTHS OF THE YEAR.

The Indians commence the year from the new moon preceding Christmas; they count the months by moons, and the first day of each new moon is the first day of the month. As in some years there are thirteen moons, then the Indians skip the moon between July and August, and they call it Abonamwikizoos (let this moon go.)

January.—* Onglusamwessit (it is very hard to get a living.)

February.—Taquask'nikizoos (moon in which there is crust on the snow).

March.—Pnhòdamwikizoos (moon in which the hens lay).

April.—Amusswikizoos (moon in which we catch fish).

* This month was called formerly Mekwas'que (the cold is great); but since they were deprived of their rich settlements on the Kennebic, it is called as above.

May.—Kikkaikizoos (moon in which we sow).

June.—Muskoskikizoos (moon in which we catch young seals).

July.—Atchittaikizoos (moon in which the berries are ripe).

August.—Wikkaikizoos (moon in which there is a heap of eels on the sand).

September. — Montchewadokkikizoos (moon in which there are herds of mooses, bears, &c.)

October.—Assebaskwats (there is rice on the borders).

November.—Abonomhsswikizoos (moon in which the frost-fish comes).

December.—Ketchikizoos (the long moon).

OBSERVATION.

The particle sis affixed to a name is a diminutive, viz. Saksis, little James, Maliesis, little Mary. But if there are two names, and this particle be found affixed to the second, then it means son. It is to be remarked, that this particle is always affixed to the name of the father, and not to that of the son, v. g. Plansoà Mizèlsis, Francis, son of Michael; Sabatis Etiènsis, John the Baptist, son of Stephen.

The particle que, affixed to a name, means wife, and it is always affixed to the name of the husband, and not to that of the wife; thus, “Malie Thomawisque, Mary, the wife of Thomas” (the syllable wi is for the sake of euphony). When the particle sis is added to que, thus que-sis, it means daughter, v. g. Sesil Etien-nisquesis, Cecily, the daughter of Stephen. If, instead of sis, they place the particle peun, thus, quepeun, it means widow, v. g. Malie K'tchi Nicolawisquepeum, Mary, the widow of the old Nicolas.
